Allies Cut Down Nazis Like Wheat

By ROGER D. GREEN

ON THE ORNE RIVER FRONT (AP)—Four dramatic statements told the story today of the bitter two-day battle to establish a new bridgehead across the Orne River eight miles below Caen.

An English brigadier said: "Our commanding general played the Boche like a salmon. He fired a lot of Chinese attacks, making a great noise down the river, and then slipped across where the Germans did not expect us to cross."

A colonel at divisional headquarters: "The Germans came out of the woods under orders to wipe us out at all costs. These wretched chaps tottered forward and got what they asked for."

A staff captain: "We had 48 hours of absolute hell, but it was a magnificent show. Now the Boche is on the run."

A newly captured German prisoner (literal translation): "We attacked across' carriage. Our soldiers were cut down like wheat."

Crops Deteriorate On Prairies

OTTAWA (CP)—With the exception of wheat, principal Canadian crops during July showed some deterioration from the outlook during June, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported this afternoon. Wheat condition figures for the Prairie provinces, based on weather factors, showed improvement in Manitoba and Alberta, but only slight improvement in Saskatchewan.

Feed grains, expressed as a percentage of the long-time average yield per acre, declined in the three provinces.

Bishop Dies in China Without Knowing Honor

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. En Su Yu, first honorary doctor of divinity at the University of British Columbia Anglican Theological College and Anglican bishop for the Shanghai area, died in China, April 25, friends here were notified today.

At the time of his death, Bishop Yu was bishop for the Episcopal Church of the United States with oversight in Hong-kong, where he had contacted many Canadian prisoners.

A 1917 graduate of U.B.C., he had lived in China for the last 25 years. Last year the college honored him with the first honorary D.D. It had every conferred. Bishop Yu died before the letter notifying news of the honor had reached him.

Rolling Stock Will Roll No More

Allied dive bombers, taking a heavy toll of German rolling stock and locomotives in France, made sure this engine will be of no further use to the Nazis. Boilers protrude in all directions and the front truck is virtually severed. Overburdened German railroads have suffered severely from attacks.

Eisenhower Sets Up Headquarters In Normandy

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has moved his headquarters from Britain to France, it was announced tonight.

Gen. Eisenhower conferred with Prime Minister Winston Churchill Tuesday when the latter visited France during the Bank Holiday. He also has conferred several times recently with Lt. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of ground forces in France, and Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the American forces, as well as with members of their staffs.

5 Accused Fliers Freed Without Bail

Five of seven R.C.A.F. airmen charged with theft of air force equipment were released on their own recognizance by F. J. Baker, J.P., following preliminary hearings in Sidney police court today. Judgment will be handed down next Tuesday.

The airmen were LACs A. A. Campbell, D. F. Vowel, J. A. E. Rousseau, H. S. Gillett, and G. R. Scott. LAC G. W. Fortin was released on his own recognizance on Tuesday.

Witnesses called for Campbell, Vowel and Rousseau repeated evidence given in the hearing of LAC G. W. Fortin, Tuesday, in which statements were made that orders had been given for removal of rubbish from the station to a public dump; the airmen instead of dumping the material had retained some of it and that it had been sold in Sidney.

As Gillett and LAC G. R. Scott, another of the accused, had given evidence at the previous hearings under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, evidence given by them was not used in their hearing.

J. B. Clearhuc, K.C., defence counsel for six of the seven accused airmen, repeated his defence claiming the equipment was abandoned material and that in retaining and later selling it the airmen had committed no crime.

W. C. Moreshy, K.C., crown prosecutor, contended the material had not been abandoned. The accused airmen, he said, instructed to dump rubbish from the hangar into the public dump did not fulfil their duty.

Will Send Home Troops in Greece And Yugoslavia

By PAT FRANK

ANKARA (ONA)—Bulgaria has agreed to terms preliminary to her surrender to the Allies, it was reliably learned here today.

Marking the first crack in Hitler's grip on the Balkan satellites following Turkey's rupture with Germany, the Bulgars have agreed to:

1. Withdrawal of all Bulgarian forces from Greece and Yugoslavia.

2. Withdrawal within the pre-1939 frontiers of Bulgaria.

3. Fixing of Bulgarian frontiers and all Balkan borders after the war on the basis of economic factors.

4. Restoration of full rights to Jews and other disenfranchised citizens.

5. Clearing Germans' out of all posts of civil authority.

In addition to these preliminary terms, it is understood Russia expects the Bulgarians to collaborate in driving all German troops out of the country. It is reliably reported here in this connection, that the Bulgars have already succeeded in ousting the Germans from the Black Sea ports of Varna and Burgas, and have halted all anti-Jewish measures.

The negotiations for the pre-surrender terms were conducted by British and U.S. representatives through formal neutral channels. It is reliably reported. Simultaneously, Russia backed the Allied terms through its Sofia diplomats.

The negotiations do not mean abandonment of the unconditional surrender policy, but show this policy is sufficiently elastic to provide fair and decent terms to those countries ready to "work their passage home."

Undoubtedly, other agreements will be reached between Turkey and Bulgaria and the Allies, Turkey and Bulgaria, which will have a fertile impact on Romania and Hungary.

Workman Killed In Train Tunnel

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP)—Provincial Police are investigating the death of George Legebok, 24, of Crescent Valley, who was killed Tuesday while working with a C.P.R. gang at a tunnel on the Kettle-Valley line, 23 miles west of here.

Legebokoff was "barring" rocks from the roof of the tunnel and it is believed a rock knocked him from the scaffolding, which was 17 feet high. An inquest is being held.

Suffers Heart Attack, Man Drowns in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said today they believed John W. Manson, 64, a retired B.C. Electric motorman drowned off Point Grey, suffered a heart attack while walking on the beach. The body was found in the water off the point Tuesday night by soldiers.

Allies Capture St. Malo

BRITTANY (AP)—The capture of St. Malo was announced tonight.

By DWIGHT PITKIN
Canadian armor broke through strong German second line defenses south of Caen today in the new Allied offensive against Field Marshal Gen. Von Kluge's northern anchor in Normandy, barring a full scale sweep into the plain toward Paris.

The German high command acknowledged today U.S. forces sweeping through the old province of Maine have broken into the strategic communications

For Our Boys Over There

For the boys of the Canadian Scottish, Victoria's own regiment, now in the thick of it in France with the Heines on the run, daily appeal is made here by the Scottish Comforts committee.

Reported today.

RIDES BUZZ-BOMB

Mrs. Anna Reisch, above, won little "Biological Phenomenon" and an Iron Cross, according to Nazi reports, by riding inside robot bomb during early experiments. Lying in almost horizontal position, gazing through periscope, she discovered faults which defied other tests. Her nickname came because she was apparently unaffected by tremendous air pressure, but she was severely injured in her flight.

King Must Decide On Policy Now, Says Tim Buck

WINNIPEG (CP)—Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive party, said here today Prime Minister King "must now make up his mind whether he is going to play tight with reform-minded Canadians or 'continue his practice of keeping the balance between Quebec and the west."

He commented on the results of the Quebec and Alberta provincial elections.

Mr. Buck said a Union Nationale government, under Maurice Duplessis, might be "disastrous for Quebec as well as for Canada."

He said he was not surprised at the return to office of the Social Credit government in Alberta.

Polish Conference Gets Nowhere But Leaves Door Open

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation accused the Polish government-in-exile at London today of clinging to the "dictatorial" constitution of 1935 at the cost of temporarily blocking the formation of a "democratic provisional government."

The critique by the committee's news agency Polpress came as Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the exiled government and the committee apparently made no move to resume the intra-Polish conference during the day. The critical Polpress report, however, held out the possibility that negotiations would start again. Moscow newspapers printed the Polpress report.

At the same time a front page announcement said Premier Stalin had told Mikolajczyk in their talk Aug. 3 that he desired all questions of conditions in Poland might be decided by the Poles themselves.

Polpress said the discussions between the two Polish groups had "not brought positive results so far because the representatives from London did not accept the 1921 democratic constitution and did not agree to renounce the anti-democratic constitution of 1935 with all its consequences."

A source close to Mikolajczyk indicated that Tuesday night's conference at the Kremlin between his group, the Liberation Committee and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov had left the door open for continuation of negotiations between the two Polish factions.

A member of Mikolajczyk's London group described the atmosphere of the meeting as friendly. Mikolajczyk left the Kremlin in the best mood since he had seen Premier Marshal Stalin last week and apparently had no thought of terminating his Moscow visit abruptly.

S. C. Sweeps Alberta; Liberals Lose Quebec

Manning's Party In Power; Biggest Majority So Far

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta Social Credit government which took office for the first time in 1935, today is back in office with a majority greater than it has enjoyed since 1940.

The government party, led by 36-year-old Premier E. C. Manning, son of the Saskatchewan prairies and trained in public speaking by the late Premier William Aberhart, led from the start of vote-counting in Tuesday's general election.

This morning, 39 Social Crediters had been elected and they were leading in 10 other of the total of 57 Legislature seats.

At dissolution last month, the Social Crediters held 35 seats, Independents 15, Liberals three, Labor one, C.C.F. one, Independent-Social Credit one. One seat was vacant.

In their first election victory, when they ousted a United Farmers of Alberta administration, the Social Crediters elected 56 members to the Legislature, which then had 63 members.

So fast was the accumulation of first-choice votes by Social Credit candidates that the Canadian Press told of the government's apparent re-election 26 minutes after the polls had closed in urban ridings at 7 p.m., M.D.T. By that time, Social Crediters running in the 47 single-member constituencies were far ahead of opposing candidates. Rural polls closed at 6 p.m.

UPHOLDS DIVIDEND

Mr. Manning during the campaign promised the Alberta electorate that he would continue the Social Credit fight for money reform. He reiterated faith in Social Credit policies, which include the payment of a national dividend.

The government party, and the C.C.F. both had 57 candidates in the field, one for each of the Legislature seats.

In Tuesday's polling the Independents suffered the loss of their leader, James H. Walker of Raymond, who was defeated in Warner by Hon. Solon Low, Provincial Treasurer and National Social Credit leader.

Mr. Low was one of the nine provincial cabinet ministers returned to office. Mr. Manning and all his eight colleagues were assured of re-election early in the count.

CITIES IN DOUBT

The count in the two major Alberta cities, Calgary and Edmonton, both five-member constituencies, delayed because of slow arrival at a central distribution station in Edmonton of boxes containing the ballots marked Aug. 7 by Alberta voters on duty within the province.

The cities' elect their members by the proportional representation system and returning officers could not set the quotas.

PREMIER E. C. MANNING ... biggest yet.

necessary for election until the service ballots had been delivered to them, possibly later today.

The C.C.F. entered the Alberta campaign fresh from victory in Saskatchewan, where its candidates defeated a Liberal government in June. C.C.F. speakers, including Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, asked Alberta voters to get in step with what they said was a trend towards the C.C.F. elsewhere in Canada.

Elmer Roper, provincial C.C.F. leader, was a candidate in Edmonton. Also a candidate in Edmonton was James A. McPheron, provincial Labor Progressive leader whose party had 30 candidates in the contest, running next to the Independents in number of entries, the latter having 36.

Mr. Manning had announced a session of the Legislature will be held later this year when arrangements will be made to take a vote among Alberta service men and women outside the province to select three members-at-large.

LOSE DEPOSITS

Incomplete vote returns indicated more than 20 of the 184 candidates had lost their election deposits.

Mrs. C. B. Wood, the sole woman member of the last Legislature, a Social Credit, was re-elected in Stony Plain.

P.G. Gordon Taylor, Social Credit candidate in the coal-mining community of Drumheller, was the first member declared elected, and Hon. N. E. Tanner, Minister of Lands and Mines, running in Cardston, was the first of the nine cabinet ministers re-elected.

Mayor Andrew Davison of Calgary, running as an Independent candidate, was in top place with first choices as the election count proceeded in his home city.

Mr. Manning had an easy victory in his own constituency of Edmonton.

In the one-member constituencies, the single-transferable-vote system is used and most of the successful Social Credit candidates had a sufficiently large majority that the distribution of the second choices of the trailing candidate was unnecessary.

LANDERYOU, NEW MEMBER

Among the complete counts today, John C. Landeryou, former Social Credit member of Parliament, was announced as elected for Lethbridge. The third and final count gave Mr. Landeryou 2,669 and David Elton, Independent, 2,349.

The election of Mr. Landeryou was conceded although ballots marked by service voters from Lethbridge had not been received. Only 200 blank ballots had been distributed for the constituency and thus the soldier vote could not change the result.

Manning Sees Win At Polls As Defeat Of State Socialism

EDMONTON (CP)—Following is the text of Premier E. C. Manning's statement on his Social Credit Party's victory in the Alberta general election Tuesday:

Once more the most enlightened electorate in Canada has spoken with a clear and unmistakable voice. The sweeping verdict which they have rendered at the polls may be regarded as fourfold:

1. An emphatic endorsement of their government's record of achievement during the past nine years.

2. An expression of confidence in the government's determination to continue its all-out fight to remove the root causes of our social and economic ills, and to keep Alberta in the proud position of leadership she now enjoys as the most progressive, the farthest advanced and the best administered province in the Dominion.

3. An emphatic repudiation of the deceptive political practices employed by those whose desire was to defeat the government at all costs—and

4. A definite rejection of the impractical and anti-democratic CHRISTIAN DEMOCRACY.

By their democratic choice the enlightened people of Alberta have declared to the rest of Canada that the true practical Christian democracy for which Social Crediters are fighting is a far better and much more to be desired alternative to the old order of financial orthodox than state socialism ever has been or ever can be.

There is no question but that this third sweeping victory for Social Credit in Alberta will have a very definite bearing on the trend of public opinion throughout the entire Dominion of Canada. It definitely marks the beginning of the end of the state socialism of the C.C.F. as an alternative to the old order of the past.

(The C.C.F., which like the government party contested all the 57 Legislature seats, had failed to elect a single candidate as the count proceeded today.)

TO AFFECT DOMINION
I predict that it is only a matter of time until all Canada embraces the true political and economic democracy represented by Social Credit which the people of Alberta, after nine years' experience, have again accorded such an overwhelming endorsement.

I appreciate deeply the confidence in the Social Credit government which the electors have expressed at the polls. I feel ever more keenly the great responsibility that attaches to the tremendous task which you have asked us to carry on.

I pledge my colleagues and myself to do everything in our power to justify your confidence and to carry out faithfully and efficiently the renewed mandate you have given us. We will carry on the fight with unrelenting vigor, until we reach our ultimate goal and objective of an Alberta and a Canada in which every citizen is assured of a full measure of social and economic security, with the maximum of individual freedom.

ASKS ALL CO-OPERATE

Now that the election is over, I sincerely hope that there will be no recriminations and no bitterness or malice.

I bespeak the wholehearted co-operation and support of every citizen of this province, irrespective of politics, race or creed, in a united effort to advance the common good. Forgetting that which is behind, and with an eye single to the best interests of all the people of this splendid province, let us now go forward together, in humility and confidence, relying daily on Divine Providence for wisdom and guidance, that our efforts may be crowned with success.

Union Nationale Has Margin 7 Seats Over Godbout Group

QUEBEC (CP)—Maurice Duplessis assumed today that he would resume the premiership of Quebec province after five years in opposition ranks, although his Union Nationale was still one seat from an over-all majority following Tuesday's general election, with one seat doubtful and one deferred.

Of 88 conceded seats, the Union Nationale held 45, Liberals 38, the young Bloc Populaire four, and the C.C.F. and Nationalist one each.

Premier Godbout was non-committal. With his Liberal following cut from 59 at dissolution to 38 seats, despite a higher popular vote than the Union Nationale, he said he would await the election results.

That result appeared to rest in the ballot boxes of one riding, and possibly in the deferred election of Charlevoix-Saguenay, where voting is set for Aug. 24, but the edge seemed to rest with the Union Nationale.

HOPES TO CARRY ON

Mr. Duplessis indicated he felt his margin would be maintained, adding that the Union Nationale would "carry on a policy which will help Quebec to recover, all the rights our province relinquished during the past few years."

Meanwhile, the immediate interest centred on the still doubtful constituency, the largely-rural Rouville. With unofficial returns recording 24 of 40 polls, Union Nationale Laurent Barre claimed election by 25 votes, while Liberal Fernand Samson claimed the honors by two votes.

Preliminary and incomplete tabulation of the popular vote gave about 448,000 votes to the Liberals, 45,000 higher than the total polled by the Union Nationale. Heavy Liberal majorities in a number of Montreal seats accounted in part for the difference.

POOR SHOW BY BLOC

The Bloc Populaire, with 80 candidates entered, was never in the running as far as electing any great number of candidates was concerned although the four Bloc Populaire representatives elected could still conceivably hold the balance of power in the next Legislature.

The C.C.F. ran 24 candidates and elected one—the first C.C.F. representative in the Quebec provincial House. He is David Cote, who won in the nine-way fight in the newly created northern riding of Rouyn-Noranda.

Rene Chaboult will again be the lone Nationalist member in the House following his election in Quebec County.

Premier Godbout won handily in his home riding of L'Islet, and seven out of 110 of his cabinet ministers were re-elected with him. They are Provincial Treasurer J. A. Matheson, Health Minister Groulx, Fisheries Minister Valmore Bienvenue, Attorney-General—Leon—Casgrain, Georges Dansereau, Minister of Public Works, Wilfrid Hamel, Minister of Lands and Forests, and Acting Labor Minister, and Joseph Franchou, Minister without Portfolio.

EX-MINISTERS RETURNED

Elected with Mr. Duplessis were five men who were members of his cabinet between 1936 and 1939. Onesime Gagnon, Minister of Agriculture, was one of them.

Mr. Page said it was not a healthy condition in any province for a government to have "such an overwhelming majority. However we Independents accept the result as good sportsmen."

They extended congratulations to Premier E. C. Manning and his supporters.

Merriman Round-up ...

THIS IS said to have been the last toast at Teheran: Stalin raised his glass to Churchill and Roosevelt, and said: "To our two great Allies—and to the extermination of 50,000 Nazi officers." Churchill returned his glass to the table, and said that he couldn't drink to such a toast—that he didn't believe the people of Britain wished to exterminate 50,000 Nazi officers. "To our two great Allies," said Roosevelt, "and perhaps a compromise can be effected between you two—to the extermination of, let us say, 49,000 Nazi officers." For the past few years millions of dollars' worth of art treasures belonging to William Randolph Hearst have been offered for sale at Gimbel Bros. in New York. The sale was prompted by a desire on the part of the 83-year-old Mr. Hearst and his trustees to make his estate more liquid. The trustees recently discovered that at these Hearst sales, a considerable portion of the items were bought by Mr. Hearst. He's furnishing a large new ranch house in Chihuahua, Mexico.

THE BRITISH troops who invaded France were provided with a booklet advising them how to conduct themselves with the French people. "Don't criticize the French Army's defeat of 1940," was the first rule. "Do not be fooled by France's peculiar political record of upheavals. France is a great democracy. If the Germans could have crossed our water obstacle—the Channel—as they crossed the French water obstacle—the Meuse—are we quite sure that Britain would not have suffered the same immediate fate as France? In essence, the lesson is 'The French have suffered and are apt to be sensitive'." The French are more polite than most of us. Remember to call them "Monsieur, Madame, Mademoiselle" not just "Oui." Irving Berlin and his "This Is the Army" show have been touring the Italian front. "We're not on a sightseeing bus," reports a member of the cast. "It's more like being at the ringside of a wrestling match, where the contestants often are being thrown into your lap." At each stop, during the Italian campaign, the members of the cast were warned: "Remember, don't talk. Keep your lips buttoned about where your next stop will be." Every day came the warning: "Don't talk." They arrived at one place where the quarters assigned them were in a half-demolished building; no water, no light, no furniture. Sgt. Julie Oshins turned to the lieutenant and said: "Sir, somebody talked."

First Brussels Dateline Story Tells Of Battle Against Nazi Slave Agents

(This is the first story written for the Canadian Press by a resident of a Nazi-occupied country, sent out from that country. It was written in Brussels by a Belgian newspaperman, brought to England by secret messenger, then transmitted to Canada.)

By A BELGIAN JOURNALIST

BRUSSELS, Belgium—We Belgian journalists have been on compulsory leave for four years.

From the start of the German occupation the enemy demanded that we should continue to publish our newspapers. With rare exceptions, we refused.

But for the clandestine press, which up to now has numbered 330 different papers, our pens would have clogged. I myself have been dividing my time between writing my memoirs and contributing to the underground journals.

Imagine my surprise, then, when a stranger was introduced into my office by a trusted friend—and after telling me that he was a member of the Secret Service, asked me to write a series of articles for the hundreds of American newspapers served by the Newspaper Enterprise Association (NEA).

I knew the Secret Service was well organized, but I certainly had not realized that they had reached the point of supplying the Allied press with articles actually written in occupied Belgium.

HOW TO FIGHT GESTAPO

I made a further appointment with the stranger who was to be my messenger, then set to work.

I sought the assistance of a friend whom I know to be the core of resistance to the German roundup of Belgian labor. I was surprised by his suggestion that we should meet at the Brasserie of the Hotel Central at noon, the following day.

I thought this hardly the place for a secret discussion; all Brussels knew that this Brasserie was at all times full of Germans.

There we were, seated side by side, and confronted with glasses of beer. If one can so christen the disgusting liquid which Belgian brewers are forced to produce under a German decree. The room as usual was crowded with Germans.

"The best way to avoid the prying eyes of the Gestapo is to fight against it in its own arena," my friend explained. "Let us converse here normally and without any air of secrecy and I assure you that no one will bother us." I told him briefly what our American friends had asked and he was delighted.

SMUGGLED OUT—Under the very noses of the Gestapo, this dispatch was written on notepaper of the Hotel Central, leading Brussels hotel and a hangout for high-Nazi occupation authorities. Here is a facsimile of the letterhead.

SLAVES RECRUITED—The cinemas of Liege were raided and young people, including girls of 18, were taken off to God knows where in 400 German military cars that had been drawn up outside.

VIVID STORY

"Paper and pen, please," he called to a waiter.

Without even wondering if the German officers at the bar might be interested in our labors, we threw ourselves into our task. The poor steel of the pen scratched and crossed and tore into the inferior wartime substitute for the Hotel Central's notepaper. Almost word for word I took down the vivid story told to me by my friend.

"From the beginning of the occupation the Germans turned our manpower to their profit," my friend told me, in a voice as natural as though we were discussing the weather. "Salaries could not be augmented more than 8 per cent—but the cost of living had already risen 56 per cent."

"The Germans reduced our working class to poverty and famine by digging into our food reserves to supply the black market, of which they themselves were the promoters and beneficiaries. They closed certain factories to create artificial unemployment. To avoid hunger, sickness, and perhaps even death for their families, some Belgians had to go to work in Germany."

"But this system of moral coercion was not profitable enough for the Nazis. Since March, 1942, they have instituted the regime of forced labor for both men and women of Belgium."

German labor recruiting offices were opened in every Belgian town. Call-up papers were sent to thousands of Belgians. It was wasted effort: Only one in every 1,000 answered the call-up notice, according to official German statistics.

NAZIS FURIOUS

This check to their plans made the Germans furious. When Belgians refused to submit voluntarily to slavery, they were compelled by force to do so.

My friend told me of an experience aboard the train to Bruges. At the little station of Landeghem, all passengers were lined up in rows on the platform, men on one side, women on the other. Identity papers were closely scrutinized, and a third of the travelers were taken off in lorries to a marshalling station from which they would be sent to Germany.

"If I had not had a forged certificate of exemption from forced labor," my friend said, "I should not have been here today."

Some days ago, all the cinemas of Liege were raided and young people, including girls of 18, were taken off to God knows where in 400 German military cars that had been drawn up outside.

Dance halls that had all been closed by order of Governor-General von Falkenhausen had just been authorized to reopen, not as a harmless distraction for our youth, but as a means of attracting them to a lair. Those who took the risk were caught like rats in a trap.

At the Brussels "White Star" football club, the sound of horns arriving had caused a warning to be given, and many young sters jumped over the walls and managed to escape, despite the precautions taken by the Feldgendarmes. In another town the sports club had been warned that a German check-up had been arranged for the following Sunday's match. The match was canceled on the pretext of the bad state of the ground.

A German prisoner was raised and arrested, but during the transfer of the prisoners to the nearest several young men managed to escape by joining a funeral procession which happened to be passing through the neighborhood.

Lessons, a town of 10,000 inhabitants, was in a state of siege for 24 hours. Nobody was allowed to leave his home while a mass of German troops made a house-to-house search to discover any labor conscripts who were hiding there. Many managed to escape by jumping from one garden to another while the search was being made—but 300 youngsters were taken.

FIGHT AS GUERRILLAS

The stout resistance of the Belgians has resulted in the creation of the "maquis." Our young workers have escaped in thousands, taken refuge in the woods and grottoes. They go to earth, and then organize. They are maintained by our women and children, and they fight like true guerrillas under the direction of officers.

Here is one of the most glorious pages of our history, a revelation of the unflinching determination of the Belgians to live in freedom.

Expecting Battle For Channel Islands

LONDON (CP)—The liberation of the Channel Islands is believed here to be imminent once German garrisons in the ports of Brittany have been destroyed, but in the opinion of unofficial observers there has been little sign the enemy will surrender the islands without a fight.

There has been some movement of enemy troops from Jersey and Guernsey to the mainland, but it is believed they were shifted to reinforce the Brittany garrisons rather than to start evacuation of the islands.

It is known the Germans have heavy gun emplacements on the Channel Islands, which they occupied in 1940, and that underground railways permit ammunition to be delivered to batteries free from air attack. Roland Barnett, an English

MR. MANNING'S GREAT VICTORY

WHEN THE ELECTION WAS CALLED in Alberta we said in these columns that the government of Premier E. C. Manning—and that of his predecessor—had established a record which suggested that the people of Alberta would send "Social Credit" candidates to the top of many polls. We based this prospect on observations from public men from that province who had visited Victoria in recent months. Regardless of their views on the political philosophy of the administration at Edmonton, they admitted without any hesitation that they had had good, honest government for the first time in many years. That they knew whereof they spoke is borne out by the impressive victory which Mr. Manning and his ministerial colleagues scored yesterday over the determined and intensive campaign which most of the leading lights of Canada's third party had waged in support of its 57 nominees. Although the figures are incomplete as this is written, the government forces seem to be assured of at least 45 seats in the next Legislature, with the C.C.F. left perhaps with a pair or less, while more than a score of opposition candidates forfeited their deposits.

Those who had prophesied that Canada's third party would draw their major support from the rural constituencies, basing their contentions on the spectacular farmer response to its appeal in Saskatchewan, must have experienced a rude shock when they learned that the government's victory had been conceded before the counting of urban votes had barely begun. In other words, the verdict in so many ridings is a plain intimation that the record of the administration, apart altogether from the name by which it goes or the "basic dividend" which it has not paid, was sufficient inducement for the great majority of the electors to give it an unqualified endorsement. And the public of the whole Dominion will not lightly regard the victorious Premier's emphatic declaration that the verdict marked the "beginning of the end of State Socialism of the C.C.F. as an alternative to the old order of the past."

Nor has the principal opposition any justifiable alibi for its sound trouncing. It had sent into the province many of its most able speakers and campaigners. They employed every conceivable weapon in their verbal arsenal. There is not the slightest doubt that thousands of its adherents throughout the Dominion were fully confident that what had been accomplished in Saskatchewan with comparative ease could be repeated in the neighboring province. But the people of Alberta evidently have long memories. They probably recalled the famous speech which British Columbia's C.C.F. leader Harold Winch delivered in Calgary last December. And it would be foolish to suppose that the third party's attitude toward the Japanese question had nothing to do with yesterday's verdict. Notwithstanding these more or less extraneous circumstances, however, the plain fact to be noted is that our neighbors on the east of the Rockies were more interested in the retention of a government which had served them well than they were in party labels and specious promises.

NOT SO OVERWHELMING

THOSE ENTHUSIASTIC MEMBERS OF Canada's third party who saw the "wave of the future" in the provincial verdict in Saskatchewan last June may be finding it difficult to readjust their thinking as they contemplate the fate of 78 out of 81 candidates entered in Alberta and Quebec. But an analysis of the actual votes cast in the central prairie province, which gave the C.C.F. 47 members out of 55, shows that the victors polled no more than 53 per cent of the total, leaving 47 per cent opposed to the Socialistic doctrine as advocated by Premier Douglas and his supporters.

Under our electoral system, of course, the number of votes cast for winner or loser in the aggregate means little or nothing as far as the representation in the Legislature is concerned. Three and four-cornered contests often result in electing a candidate on a minority vote. In the case of Saskatchewan, however, the ballot for ballot aspect does not reflect the great Socialistic landslide which the division of party strength in the next House may suggest to the casual observer. It was a relatively close contest after all—a point which takes on new emphasis in the light of the smothering which C.C.F. candidates suffered in Alberta and Quebec.

CONFUSION IN QUEBEC

YESTERDAY'S PROVINCIAL ELECTION in the Ancient Province of Quebec has produced what at this writing has the appearance of a stalemate—with, however, the prospect of former Premier Maurice Duplessis and his Union Nationale Party succeeding the Liberal government of Premier Adélard Godbout. The young Bloc Populaire movement and the C.C.F. appear to have split five seats between them, the latter with only one successful out of its bid for 24 of the Legislature's 90 seats.

The verdict in Quebec will be a disappointment to Premier Godbout. He has given the province an excellent administration since his election in the fall of 1939—in which the electorate ousted the administration of Mr. Duplessis mainly because of its extravagant financial policies and its opposition to the federal government's war program. It will be recalled that on that occasion the four Quebec members of Mr. King's ministry staked their political fortunes on the outcome of the contest. Mr. Godbout's success justified the part they played in the provincial realm, since Mr. Duplessis had made it abundantly clear that his snap election—his constitutional term had two years to run at dissolution—would be confined largely to the major Dominion issue.

Regardless of Mr. Godbout's appeal to the electorate to pass judgment on the record of his administration, the campaign fare which Mr. Duplessis and his supporters served up differed little in its basic considerations from that of 1939. It was directed for the most part to certain specific aspects of the nation's war effort and Quebec's relationship to them. Mr. Godbout had told the electors he was opposed to conscription; and the federal government had not applied—wisely or unwisely—the spirit and intent of the plebiscite verdict of 1942. Nor on this occasion did any member of the Ottawa ministry take part in the campaign. Its result nevertheless may cause Mr. Mackenzie King to reconsider his government's attitude in the light of the new situation presented to him in a province from which he draws such substantial support.

At best, of course, the proceedings which culminated in the actual casting of the ballots in Quebec were so confused that it is difficult at this distance to attempt to determine what the verdict will mean to the immediate political future of the Ancient Province. When and if he is called upon to form a government perhaps Mr. Duplessis will clear the atmosphere.

OIL AND ITS FUTURE

BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES have just reached an agreement on the subject of oil and the commercial role of this important commodity in the postwar world. In its main essentials the pact gives an assurance of adequate petroleum supplies to "all peaceable countries at fair prices and on a non-discriminatory basis—subject to such collective security arrangements as may be at any time in force." Inherent in the arrangement also is a recognition of the principle of equal opportunity in the acquisition of concessions, while the freeing of production and distribution from unnecessary restrictions would seem to be a useful contributing factor in respect of the economy of "all peaceable countries."

The document signed in Washington yesterday bears the signatures of Lord Beaverbrook for the United Kingdom and Mr. Edward R. Stettinius, Acting Secretary of State, for the United States. Apart from the essential importance of the agreement by reason of the international ramifications of the petroleum industry, its consummation constitutes the first pact of its kind relating to postwar trade in a commodity so conspicuously related to modern life. Its further importance likewise resides in the fact that its consummation has been brought about by two branches of the English-speaking family which control vast reserves of this great natural resource. If it provides the basis for a more general agreement among other nations, as it well may, it should help the cause of economic democracy.

While the intricacies of the subject may be beyond the ken of the average uninitiated layman, the ordinary individual has learned sufficient about oil since the present war broke out to know what a potent factor it has been and could be again where peace or war is at stake. The fact that Britain and the United States have agreed on future policy regarding its production and distribution, therefore, suggests that if a subject with such inflammable potentialities can be dealt with in the spirit of co-operation and harmony, there is a much brighter hope that other contentious problems will be solved with similar success. It is this aspect of the pact which will be easily understood and appreciated by the general public.

FUNNY LITTLE MAN

PERHAPS SOME WRITER WITH A flair for analysis will devote a little time after the war to the collection of phrases from enemy propaganda—particularly those which emanated from Berlin and Tokyo during the fifth year of the conflict—and enlighten us on the impressions they were intended to create in the domestic and international field.

Yesterday's warning from Japanese Premier Koiso might head the collection, both for the candor of its implication and the naivete of its injunction. It appears to the government leader in Tokyo that the Americans, through sheer cussedness, are about "to strike at our homeland," and this prospect had confronted the Nipponese Empire with "national difficulties of unprecedented seriousness." But that left the sons of heaven one course to pursue—"to consolidate the resolution of our total strength to overcome all difficulties and thus win the war." So says Premier Koiso.

"The time has now come when military operations by our imperial forces on a grand and bold scale are expectedly awaited and, at the same time, when our 100,000,000 people must arm themselves and, in obedience, strike against the enemy and destroy their evil design."

To all of which Admiral Chester Nimitz and General Douglas MacArthur, speaking for the vast Pacific area, and Lord Louis Mountbatten, as commander-in-chief for southeast Asia, will reply with: Bring out your fleet "on a grand and bold scale" and see what happens. By that means, the 100,000,000 Japanese, either in obedience or in sheer desperation, might soon get a chance to "strike against the enemy" in the homeland which Premier Koiso now says is really threatened.

Why is it that nobody believes a "fresh paint" sign?

Mr. King In His Study

By I. NORMAN SMITH of the Ottawa Journal
IT WAS MY exceeding good fortune to have an hour's talk one afternoon this week with Prime Minister King. Or perhaps I should say with W. L. Mackenzie King, philosopher and elder statesman, for we didn't talk party politics nor did I ask him when the election would be.

We sat in his study on the top floor of Laurier House, Ottawa, among his thousands of books, his pictures and his nicknacks. The Airedale who succeeded "Pat" lay beside me on a rug and a big jug of cold lemonade buttressed us against the oppressive heat.

That garret study was infinitely hotter than the cool drawing room downstairs, but I had previously asked if I might see him in his famous library and the Prime Minister insisted I should have my wish. Bowing me through the hall to a small elevator, which Mr. King operated himself, the Prime Minister led me to his hideaway with a courtesy which, whether old world or new world, I have rarely experienced.

It was because of Mr. King's 25th anniversary as leader of the Liberal Party that I sought an exclusive interview. Mr. King has been at the head of a government longer than any living political leader in any land; I wanted to find out how he felt about things.

BOOKS, MOTHER AND GRANDFATHER—MEMORY OF WHAT was said by either of us in the first few moments was blotted out by my preoccupation with the look of his room. Often I had seen the lights burning up there late at night and wondered what he was doing and in what setting.

It is not a large room, and every inch of space is jealously filled. The only windows are the casement windows facing over Laurier Avenue, against which is fitted the Prime Minister's plain table that serves for a desk. The other three walls are lined—wholly lined—with books.

Several tables and desks fight for space upon the floor against a cloth-covered chest-of-drawers, and not a square foot of table space but is covered by photographs or books or manuscripts. Nicknacks and bric-a-brac, each no doubt carrying its story, fill in any empty spots that threaten to appear. The place of honor, as is now pretty generally known, goes to a large painting of Mr. King's mother—placed beside his desk and just so that it is warmly and affectionately lit up by a nearby lamp. On the desk is stern old William Lyon Mackenzie, grandfather.

LAURIER HOUSE IS HIS

I HAD ASKED if much of this room was Laurier's, and as I looked around Mr. King explained that the only Laurier possessions he had were a few books—including Hay's life of Lincoln. Lady Laurier had, he explained, left the house to Mr. King in 1919, though none of its content. He had had the house done over, with the generous help of friends, and had turned the old garret into a library. Over the years he had furnished the whole house, but though the library looks friendly and "lived in" the rest of the house is perhaps on the severe side—dignified and full of expensive pieces but somehow lacking in atmosphere. Possibly it misses the woman's touch.

Laurier House is not, I learned, the property of the Liberal Party for use by the leader. This misconception perhaps arose out of the fact that the gift was made to William Lyon Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Party. But the Prime Minister pointed out that the latter reference was only as identification—much as it might have been John Jones, banker—and not as qualification. Consequently it is Mr. King's home and he speaks feelingly of how much it has meant to him to have such a home.

"Mind you," he said, "I would like to think that sometime we will have an official Prime Minister's residence in Ottawa, and I hope we shall. But for my part I have been immensely fortunate."

DOGS IN SHUT CARS

From Dumb Animals, Boston
The stifling interior of a car, parked in the scorching sun, is no fit place to leave the family pet. It is pitiful to see a car with windows closed, or with, perhaps, one window a half inch or so, and within a panting dog, frantically seeking a breath of air. Under such conditions the inside of an automobile can become a veritable oven and too often dogs have succumbed to heat prostration. Owners should park their cars in the shade and lower windows from one to two inches so that there will be a constant circulation of air.

A LILT

I am thinking of you.
When you go by along the way I knew
Rich with the wild roses, starry with dew—
When you step light between Walls of such live green

As might have been made,
The leaves, of malachite, and the boughs, of jade—

Laughing, with dusty shoe,
I walk with you there, I too;
O I am thinking of you!

There are they falling still,
The little pale locust-blossoms, strewn on the hill
At the veering varying weather's and wind's will?

And you, do you smile as you go
Through that miracle mock-snow?

Do you heed, do you hear
My small, small cricket-voice that cries at your ear?

Forlornly, vainly true
To the happiest hour I knew—
Hark, I am thinking of you!
—AUDREY ALEXANDRA BROWN.

News Analysis— The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Whether there is truth in the report that Nazi Gestapo chief Himmler the Hangman has been assassinated and Reichsmarshal Goering wounded, the fact remains that all the leaders of the Hitler regime are increasingly in danger of violent death.

The dictator has put the already war-weary and gloomy German people under a terrific strain of regimentation in his program for "total war." He has chained them to their galley seats and is using the lash to make them pull their oars. His armies are under the even greater stress of continual defeats and retreats.

Thus while Hitler may be able to keep the lid on for a time by terrorism and force, morale inevitably will deteriorate to the point where more and more individuals will seek the lives of the leaders responsible for Germany's catastrophe. The gallows which Tuesday claimed eight more army officers has only begun its grim work. No wonder the Fuehrer's spirits are so low that he's said to be taking a rest cure in his Alps retreat at Berchtesgaden.

The greatest test of Hitler's ability to hold his people in line is still to be made. He's about to undergo a trial by fire in the great retreats which the German armies must achieve in the western and eastern theatres to reach the inner defences of the Reich for their last stand.

The next few weeks are going to be among the most crucial of the war. They will tell us whether the out-matched Nazi soldiers can endure the bloody grind of fighting and retreating—firing and retreating. They will tell us whether the German home front can stand the frightful casualty lists and growing defeat in addition to the serfdom Hitler has imposed.

NOW, A SANGAR

From Saint John Times-Globe
A word hitherto used only on the Indian northwest frontier has appeared in the vocabulary of this war. It is "sangar." A dispatch telling of operations of the Cape Breton Highlanders in Italy says:

"Some platoons lived in sangars, rocks piled up about them because there was no soil that would permit the digging of slit trenches."

That is just what the sangars used on the frontier are and why they are used. They are like sheep-folds with stone walls. Doubtless the Indian troops in Italy showed their use for protection in rocky hill country.

FRIEND IN NEED

From Hamilton Spectator
The wheelbarrow is an old and venerable vehicle which has helped to get many a heavy load over awkward places, but this war has given it a tragic aspect. Since the bombing of Shanghai by the Japanese, on through to Hitler's invasion of the Low Countries and France, this lowly carrier has been the refugees' great friend in need. It has borne their pitiful few possessions, aiding them in their flights and their long-awaited return to the rubble or the blackened walls of what were once their homes.

HOW FAR AWAY?

From Ottawa Citizen
Hollywood is looking for a boy of 12, to play "the worst brat ever put on the screen." That ought to be easy; so many will nominate the kid next door.

Even if we had enough telephones
(which we haven't)

and enough wires
(which we haven't)

we still wouldn't have enough central office equipment

to give service to everyone

Thousands of people are being denied telephone service these days, not because of one shortage but because of many, all due to the war. And by no means least of the difficulties is the lack of central office equipment—switchboard, dial mechanism and so on.

There can be no change in the situation for the present, because factories that used to produce telephone equipment are now needed to fill war orders. In the meantime, essential needs, particularly those in connection with the war effort, must come first.

Royal Jubilee Hospital

To the Friends of the Royal Jubilee Hospital:

As announced in the Victoria papers of August 2 and 3, the Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital have decided that the erection of the proposed addition to the Hospital should be proceeded with at once.

The building, without furnishings, will cost $320,000.00.

Including cash on hand and promises by the Provincial Government, the City, the Municipalities and individual contributors the Directors feel assured of having $260,000.00 with which to start construction. This, however, includes anticipated donations from one or two former liberal supporters.

There remains, therefore, an amount of, not less than $60,000.00 to be raised by public subscription.

The response to the appeal to the public in February last was $34,667.69 cash and $5,530.00 in pledges for Building Fund and $5,100.00 cash and $6,500.00 pledges for furnishings, which indicated to the Directors that the public want the addition built and would further support the undertaking to a reasonable amount.

Please send contributions to the Secretary, Royal Jubilee Hospital, marked "Building Fund."

Pledges by those desiring to contribute but whose quotas for "Donations to Charitable Funds" are filled for the current year may make their contributions payable early in 1945.

The Directors are very anxious to know as soon as possible if the building can be rushed to completion or must be delayed for lack of available funds.

They also desire an indication whether or not contributors to the Building Fund wish their names and the amount of their contributions published in the newspapers.

E. W. McMULLEN,
President, Board of Directors.

Judgment Reserved In R.C.A.F. Cases

Preliminary hearing in the Sidney police court Tuesday of the second Canadian airman, LAC. G. W. Fortin, charged with theft of R.C.A.F. property, was adjourned by F. J. Baker, J.P., to next Tuesday for a decision.

Previously, Sgt. T. A. Wylie, the first of the accused airman to have hearing, had been remanded for one week for judgment, thus giving the airman, out on $500 bail, an opportunity to arrange further bail should he be committed for trial.

In the hearing, J. G. Mitchell, proprietor of Mitchell-Anderson Lumber Co., A. D. McPhail, bulldozer operator, G. A. Gardner, owner and operator of a welding repair shop on East Saanich Road, and R. B. Brethour, proprietor of Sidney Freight Service, all of Sidney, gave evidence that they had purchased a number of articles from a group of airman. The articles, they stated, included assorted scrap, an airplane gas tank and some lumber.

They were unable to positively identify the equipment which was placed in the courtroom, nor could they identify Fortin as one of the airman with whom they had dealt.

Ft. Sgt. E. W. A. Waycott of the R.C.A.F. air inspection directorate valued the equipment, which Fortin was alleged to have stolen at approximately $68.

Sqdn. Ldr. E. H. Stamp repeated his testimony given in Ft. Sgt. T. A. Wylie's hearing, and said he had given an order for removal of rubbish from the station, but did not know whether any of the allegedly stolen equipment was on the rubbish piles.

LAC's G. R. Scott and H. S. Gillett said they had been with Fortin, who drove the R.C.A.F. truck, in the sale of equipment they had found on the rubbish piles, and that they had received a share of the money from the sale.

J. B. Clearhue, K.C., defence counsel, argued that orders had been given for disposal of the rubbish, the men had found the rubbish piles and had, quite rightly, he contended, regarded it as abandoned material. There was no crime, he said, in taking and selling equipment which was abandoned.

Guns Resound As Canadian Prays in Norman Church

"Since last writing I've changed my abode again, and this is an amusing looking spot," says Capt. Ivan Patrick in another letter from Normandy. His wife and young son reside at 749 McClure Street.

"As is the custom, everyone is well dug in. We managed to get some light waterproofing and can hold up against any amount of bad weather, of which there is plenty, rain being the worst offender."

TOUGH SPOTS

"Our brigade is doing pretty well; the Fort Garry Horse and Sherbrooke Fusiliers have had some tough spots to handle. We don't hear as much news as you do, only about our own location, but word drifts around. Any paper we see is several days old and sometimes we pick up the BBC."

"I have gathered a few souvenirs. One I use as a club for the odd rat that tears around, our rations at night. It is a German potato masher grenade which I leave at my bed, and it makes a remarkably good weapon."

"We had a big burial party yesterday, three high-rank Germans, and two cows—all in the same grave. No tears were shed, possibly due to the reason we were down wind to the offenders."

NORMAN POPPIES

"The boys' graves are here and there, some in cemeteries, others not. The French are good about putting on flowers, the poppies grow everywhere and they do sound correct, don't they? I was out on a 'recco' about 12 o'clock, a beautiful clear moonlit night, and I stopped to examine two graves at a road junction. Six in one, and a couple in another, likely a tank crew, or what was left. A cross, a few almost illegible names and a few poppies—boys from Winnipeg."

"Last night I walked back from here to a little bombed Normanville village to a Roman Catholic church which had a hole or two shot in the steeple. The church was very old and particularly well kept in true French artistic fashion. I stood back while Corbean went up to the altar to say his prayers—quite a thing with gunfire going on around—and I thought how his wife would have liked to have seen him as the light from the leaded windows shone there in focus.

FADRE'S QUARTERS

"Then an Irish padre came in and he took us around the village, showing us two wonderful saddle horses left by the Germans. One was a little balky, having been shot through the back but gradually recovering. Above the barn in the loft were the padre's quarters, and he had a wonderful German camp cot with built-in springs. I gave him a smoke of your tobacco as he was about out, and he appreciated it greatly."

"I have a few strings and wires put around and hang out the odd German sign Der Minen to keep others from picking up things while I am out. All I do is hang a few unfused booby traps up and the stunt works well."

Sea snails, equipped with a "band saw" of teeth, are able to bore holes through clam shells to obtain food.

Olive Spray Fumes Kill 1,200 Sheep

PORTERVILLE, Calif., (AP) — Approximately 1,200 sheep were killed by a poisonous spray which drifted from a nearby olive grove in the Saucelito district here, it was reported Tuesday. T. L. Cloer, on whose land the sheep were grazing, said the animals were asphyxiated by fumes. The sheep were valued at more than $15,000.

'Extra' Jobs Appeal To Few Victorians

The glamour of appearing before a motion picture camera does not seem to be attracting many Victorians according to Selective Service officials here.

The company filming "Son of Lassie" must put in an order for all extras or other employees needed to Selective Service, in exactly the same way that any other employer must and such work is classed as low priority by Selective Service.

A number of men over 50 have been sent out to the company, and Selective Service expects to be able to fill the request for 100 such men without much difficulty because the men they are sending out are not needed for any essential employment.

Very few women have tried to sign up as extras, Selective Service reports. Approximately half a dozen would-be movie actresses have come in hopefully, but as the company requires no women extras their applications have not been taken.

Every Man Should Fit Into Own Job

"Justice consists in every man finding his own job and fitting into it," Dr. H. J. T. Coleman, former dean of arts at University of British Columbia, said in an address entitled "Philosophers and Kings," given to the Kiwanis Club at the Empress Tuesday.

Dr. Coleman took Plato's Republic as the theme of his talk and maintained that much of the unrest today comes from the fact that men are so often square pegs in round holes.

He explained that Plato found justice was the fundamental quality of a good society which could be realized through education which came from environment rather than as a conscious project. He claimed that Plato's conception of Utopia was the greatest, surpassing that of Sir Thomas Moore, Samuel Butler or Sir Francis Bacon.

Dr. Coleman outlined Plato's idea of the ideal ruler as one who had served as a soldier and then spent 10 years studying the sciences. His character should be rigidly scrutinized and he would have a firm grasp of realities.

Unfortunately, he said, today western civilization suffers from a pragmatism that admits of no ultimate beauty, truth or good. People think a thing good only if it works and if it satisfies the desires of individuals.

Austin Curtis was welcomed as a new member.

More than 3,000 men and women in federal prison institutions have been given short, intensive training courses for employment in war industries.

Control mechanisms in combat aircraft are so built that they are interchangeable, eliminating delays in repairs on the battlefronts as far as possible.

4 Eggs in 2 Days

"Susie" is a very unusual bantam hen, who has laid two eggs per day for two days running, according to her proud owner, six-year-old George Arthur Phillon, today.

George, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Phillon of 737 Vancouver Street, keeps his hen in the backyard and has a rooster "Throckmorton" to keep the hen company.

Newark Continues Great Spurt In International

TORONTO (CP) — Just when Baltimore Orioles appeared to have the International League baseball pennant tucked away, Newark Bears came along to blast the race wide open again.

While the Bears continued a torrid pace started from eighth place early in July, the Birds played their first losing week in two months, losing eight for only two wins.

Last night Newark went into a virtual tie for the lead, one-half game behind Baltimore, by sweeping a doubleheader from Toronto Maple Leafs and extending their current winning streak to seven games.

Montreal Royals and Toronto Leafs suffered another disastrous week, both failing to get back on the winning track after dismal road trips. They held fifth and sixth positions, however, far away from Jersey City Giants and the first division: Buffalo Bisons, in third place, kept within striking distance of the sprinting Bears.

There was more activity in the league's bottom quarter as Rochester Red Wings and Syracuse Chiefs, after threatening to drop out of sight, both enjoyed their second successive winning week, with the Chiefs moving to within a single game of Toronto and sixth place.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

TEAMS representing the three services and the Victoria Machinery Depot will battle it out for the city baseball championship. The unpredictable R.C.A.F. Flyers upset the apple cart Monday night by knocking over the Navy and thus eliminating the Eagles from any chance of making the post-season finals. The Flyers, with a patched-up line-up, played heads-up ball and behind the cunning pitching of Billy Surphis deserved to win. This lad Surphis has proven himself just about a one-man ball club. In addition to taking his regular turn on the mound he has filled in as catcher, outfielder and first baseman.

AFTER MAKING a great mid-season bid for a play-off spot the Eagles find themselves on the side lines for the second straight season. However, the club certainly made an improved showing over last year when it was able to win a lone game in the regular schedule. A better-balanced Eagles team was the big reason for increased gates at this year's games. The lodgemen held their own with every other club in the league and, with better pitching, could easily have been up there with the leaders.

There was nothing wrong with the offensive power of the club as quite often the team scored seven or eight runs and still was beaten.

LAUREL HARNEY, playing coach of the V.M.D. team, may not weigh much but his system can absorb a lot of baseball. The peppy catcher, after guiding his club to a 5 to 0 victory over the Navy here Saturday afternoon, jumped a plane for Vancouver, and worked behind the plate for Norvans in a night game on the mainland. Sunday he made a trip to Bellingham with the shipyarders, returned to Vancouver and caught a game there Monday evening. He is back in town today and will be out with his V.M.D. pals tonight against the Flyers. That's a lot of baseball in five days.

FOLLOW-UP on Monday's all-American boys' baseball game in New York. The Giants drew 13,847 paid admissions for their Sunday doubleheader with the Phillies. The youngsters attracted 17,803 and a lot of people who paid for tickets didn't go. With due allowances for effects of promotion, that indicated a healthy interest in baseball-for-fun. The kids by their exhibition showed they could stand on their own feet. Connie Mack and Mel Ott did a perfect job of managing; they got 18 players into the game.

GATHERED from here and there: Overlooked fact about the major league all-star game last month was that Rip Sewell was only the second pitcher in the 12-year history of the game to work a three-inning stint without giving a hit. The first was Dizzy Dean in 1936. — Funny, isn't it, that with all this night baseball going on, there has not been a single instance of a manager firing a player for staying out all day. — Ball players in the New York area were placed on the same basis as burlesque queens by the war manpower commission office which ruled they were in the entertainment field and could change jobs within the industry without permission of the commission.

Twilight Tear Beaten

NEW YORK (AP) — Twilight Tear, Warren Wright's three-year-old filly hailed as the "horse of the year" after winning 11 races in a row, was beaten Tuesday at Belmont Park by William Woodward's Vienna in a turf upset ranking with the memorable defeat of Man o' War by Upset in 1919.

Held at odds of 1 to 20 by the crowd of 23,860 and regarded as a "sure thing," Twilight Tear couldn't withstand Vienna's stretch drive and finished second by three-quarters of a length. The 65th running of the $25,700 mile and one-quarter Alabama Stakes.

For Vienna, a daughter of Menow-Valse, it was her first victory of the year, and the first defeat of the year for Twilight Tear by a member of her sex and age class. She was beaten in her first 1944 start in a race for older horses at Hialeah.

In picking up first money of $18,225, Vienna ran the route in 2:03 3/5 under 114 pounds. She ran as an entry with Thredgold and paid $18,200 showing. There was no place or show wagging.

Twilight Tear picked up $3,000 as second prize boosting her total winnings to $166,400 and the Calumet Farm earnings for the year to $472,400.

Ejection Makes Spitter Potter Marked Man in American League

By HARRY GRAYSON

CHICAGO — Being ejected for throwing the spitball makes Nelson Potter of the St. Louis Browns a marked man. Batters from now on will demand that the umpire look at the ball practically every time Potter puts anything on it.

The rule against using a foreign substance on the ball, passed at the winter meetings of 1920, was designed to eliminate all trick deliveries with the spitter, but some of the boys have cheated here and there ever since.

The ball darted every which way when Dave Danforth scuffed it. Umpire George Moriarty tossed out 20 or 30 balls one afternoon while southpaw Danforth was fashioning a four-hit game for the Browns.

Those who depended entirely upon doctored balls were in a bad way when the umpires started to call them. An emery ball pitcher of unusual speed, Hod Eller of the Cincinnati Reds established world series records by striking out six White Sox in a row and a total of 10 in the phony show of 1919. Eller's emery ball broke in and out and down—and up when he threw sidearm. But Eller quickly disappeared from the scene when denied the use of emery.

Two swipes on his trouser leg and Eddie Cicotte of unhappy Black Sox memory had one side of the sphere shined like a ball-room slipper. For Cicotte an overhand pitcher with perfect control, the ball broke in and out and down, depending on how it was held.

Cicotte either never revealed his secret or no other pitcher could master the knack. Cicotte professed to show Frank Shellen back the trick when the current Boston Red Sox coach was a youngster with the White Sox.

"I'd hold and throw the ball precisely the same way, but nothing would happen," relates Shellenback. "The pitch would be as straight as a string. Then Eddie would demonstrate, and the batter could not have hit the ball with a telegraph pole."

In Cicotte's day, pitchers cut the seam of the ball with sharp thumbnails and belt buckle— even carried nails for the purpose of giving the pellet the works. They roughened the sphere with sandpaper, emery and fingernails. Loading the seam with mud made it dart in unexpected directions.

Howard Ehmke of the Philadelphia Athletics actually stuck a wad of gum on the ball in the first game of the 1920 set at Wrigley Field, when he broke Hod Eller's record for strikeouts in a world series game by sending 13 Cubs back to the dugout talking to themselves.

Pitchers with unusually strong grips loosened the cover, and tossed a "punk" ball.

They decorated the ball with tobacco juice, mud, licorice, coffee and whatnot. They shined one side and blackened the other, creating a dazzling black and white effect. One time around the infield and a new ball looked like one just retrieved from a tar vat.

It was the famous fluttering cuff of Dazzy Vance that brought about the rule prohibiting pitchers from working with ragged or slit sleeves which have the effect of confusing the batter. Johnny Allen; then of the Indians, was the last to run afoul of this rule.

Joe Vance, who had trials with the White Sox and Yankees, wore a shiny ring on his pitching hand.

Booming bats have made pitchers devise many ways of self-protection.

Degrow Pitches Flyers to Shutout Win Over Tuckers

Behind the four-hit pitching of Ossie Degrow, R.C.A.F. breezed to a 6 to 0 shutout victory over Tommy Tuckers in the opening game of the best of three lower island senior men's football final last night.

Clubs battled in the second clash tonight at 6.30 at the upper Central Park diamond and another win for the Flyers will give them the title and the right to battle the mainland champions for the B.C. crown. Should Tuckers win the third and deciding game will be played at Athletic Park tomorrow evening.

Degrow was the big man in the Air Force triumph. His blazing fast ball had Tuckers puzzled all the way and 10 of them went down via the strikeout route. His teammates gave him good support with only one error charged up against the Flyers.

After three scoreless innings Flyers went into the lead in the fourth. Crimble lined a single into right field and went down to second when Hitchens walked. Todd grounded to Duncan at short who threw to second, forcing Hitchens and when Johnston's relay to first, for the attempted double play got away from first baseman Restall, Crimble raced home.

FIVE-RUN RALLY

In the seventh the balloon went up for Tuckers. Marcotte got on when Perkins failed to field his roller down third. Meany bunted and all hands were safe when pitcher Bryant's throw was wide, but Marcotte went out trying to reach third. Degrow hit safely through shortstop, Meany scoring and Greenberry followed with a long smash to left field for a home run. Hoag singled into right centre and, when the ball got away from Andrews, the batter circled the bags. That was all for pitcher Bryant, who was replaced by Billsborough. Hitchens worked himself a walk and scored on Todd's line drive double into centre field.

Flyers collected a total of eight hits off Bryant and Billsborough. Short score follows:

R. H. E.
Tommy Tuckers	0 4 6
R.C.A.F.	6 8 1
Batteries—Bryant, Billsborough and Kennedy; Degrow and Greenberg.

New Hockey Ruling Stirs Comment

Kids Can Carry Burden

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO (CP)—Announced intention of the Saskatchewan mobilization board not to grant border crossing permits to Canadian hockey stars wishing to play with U.S. teams, has stirred a considerable froth of comment about the country.

Men in military-eligible categories will have to go into essential war work or else go on a farm and learn how to extract milk from a bossie, according to the announcement from Regina.

This rule can be put in effect in all provinces, since it is a federal statute, and if that is done some of the N.H.L. teams will be even lighter in big-time talent than they were last winter—if that is possible.

However, Baz O'Meara of the Montreal Star adopts a properly philosophical attitude toward the whole thing. "The youngsters now being developed can step into the breach—at least until the time they also become eligible for military call-up—and things will go on much as before. The fans are used to the war band of hockey now, opines Baz, and

Cardinals Go Get 'Em

This picture typifies spirit of flaming St. Louis Cardinals. Whitey Kurowski leaps and reaches into Ebbets Field stand to spear Paul Waner's foul fly with gloved hand as Red Birds sweep doubleheader with Brooklyn Dodgers, 14 to 2, 12 to 7. Umpire Larry Goetz signals third baseman to get back on the field.

Bill Newcombe Wins

Bill Newcombe was the winner of the annual Rainbow Cup competition at the Victoria Golf Club with a score of all square.

The event was against par with three-quarters of handicap allowance. Col. R. L. Fort, L. C. Boyd and H. G. Garrett tied for second, each with scores of 1 down. Walter Bowden was next, finishing 2 down.

Noble King Captures Feature at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Noble King, Jose Vina up, won the Gloaming Handicap, feature race at Exhibition Grounds Tuesday. Carefully rated in the early stages of the seven furlongs test, Noble King went to the top after five furlongs and had no trouble holding Amsternson safe in the stretch drive. Sweep Lad, the early pacer, managed to hold third place safe from Lady Lev and Hoops My Dear.

Calla Donna, one dollar Cinderella horse of western racing, won the North Star, sixth race on the card. Far back for much of the distance she came with a rush at the end to win all by herself. Perfect Prince and Lovers Lass ran two and three behind her.

Daily double of Yankee Clipper and Free Exchange returned $22.60. Quinella on the last race involving Starnaut and Rural Parade, was worth a juicy $45.45 to lucky ticket holders.

Davies-Brown Reach Men's Rinks Final

Jack Davies, Canadian Pacific Club, Victoria, and R. Brown, Cumberland, reached the final of the men's rinks as the second day's play in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament was completed. Tuesday, in semifinals Davies defeated W. Peden, a clubmate, 17 to 12, while Brown eliminated Wally Kenmuir's South Vancouver rink, 14 to 10.

Semifinals of the women's rinks also produced an interesting final with Mrs. Mowat, Burnside, defeating Mrs. Kilpatrick, West Point Grey, 17 to 8, and Mrs. A. Stewart, North Vancouver, winning from Mrs. A. W. Stewart, Burnside, 12 to 8.

Dates for the two finals will be announced later in the week. Second round play in the women's singles was featured by the defeat of Mrs. Lew Thomas, Tacoma, defending champion, by Mrs. Holmes, Burnaby, 15 to 12. Mrs. Mowat, strong Burnside entry, also went to the sidelines, being defeated by Mrs. Hughes, South Vancouver, 15 to 11. Mrs. Stewart, Burnside, defeated Mrs. Mayhew, Burnaby, 15 to 6.

Play in the men's singles advanced through the second round, with majority of matches keenly fought.

Put health in every Lunch box!

Juicy oranges make lunchbox meals hit the spot with busy workers. They add zest and freshness to other foods, supply important vitamins to help make work go easier. They are one of the best sources of vitamin C.

Vitamin C is needed daily—because the body does not store it. It's the vitamin which protects teeth and gums. And everyone gains healthful benefits from eating oranges. So enjoy oranges at home, too—fresh juice for breakfast, cool salads and desserts, and treats between meals.

Trademarked Sunkist Oranges are the finest fruit from 14,500 cooperating California and Arizona citrus growers. They're "good keepers." Buy them in quantity and have shipping trips.

B.C. Making Movie 'Mountain Playground'

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP) — A motion picture entitled "British Columbia's Mountain Playground" is being filmed in the Kootenays by the Provincial Travel Bureau for postwar release. The film will be distributed throughout Canada, the British Commonwealth and the United States.

This is the fourth travelogue filmed in British Columbia by the bureau. The Department of Trade and Industry for British Columbia sponsors production and world-wide showing of these films.

Police Board Frowns On Fortune Wheel

Promotion of two men on recommendation of Police Chief J. A. McLellan, refusal to allow the Protective Order of Elks to set up a truck and wheel of fortune at the south-east corner of Yates and Douglas Streets and acceptance of a tender of $251 from H. Cooley & Son for repairs to the roof of the police garage, marked the monthly meeting of the Victoria Police Commission in the Chief Constable's office, Tuesday.

John Howe, who became acting sergeant last September, was confirmed in the rank of sergeant, and Constable Thomas Bannister was promoted to the rank of acting sergeant. Sgt. Howe will replace Sgt. T. Hall, who is retiring the end of August.

Promotion of the two men raised discussion on the advisability of members of the Police Commission getting to know the men on the police force and those on the force becoming acquainted with the commissioners. Alderman B. J. Gadsden suggested that the commissioners hold a reception for the policemen at the beginning of each year but Mayor Andrew McGavin expressed disapproval. Alderman Mrs. M. D. Christie said she did not like to be asked to vote on men whom she did not know when question of promotions arose. A resolution of Alderman Gadsden's that all applicants for positions on the police force be interviewed by the commission before acceptance was not acted upon.

"I'm not in favor of the set-up at all," Police Chief McLellan said, when discussing the request from the Protective Order of Elks for a truck and wheel of fortune at Yates and Douglas in connection with raising money for the maternity wing at Jubilee. "Using a wheel on the street is stretching things a bit too far. Originally it was for war purposes and the wheel of fortune was tolerated for that purpose only."

The commissioners concurred with the chief in the matter. Permission for holding of the 31st annual Police Mutual Benefit Association Ball in Empress Hotel, Nov. 3, was given.

In his monthly report Chief McLellan stated that fines collected in police court totaled $1,623. Value of stolen property reported amounted to $2,180 and value recovered $914. Of $1,184 worth of lost property reported, $334 was recovered. There were a total of 269 prosecutions for the month with 162 persons fined. Twenty-six persons were reported missing during the month and the same number located. Seventeen of 18 stolen automobiles were recovered. Fifty-five accidents were re-

Peaches in Quantity For Victoria Market

Peaches in quantity for every one was the news from Lower Yates Street today, as wholesalers prepared to receive large shipments of the fruit, considered to be the best crop of peaches the Okanagan has ever had.

A part-carload arrived early this week and by next week wholesalers anticipate bringing the peaches in as "fast as the people buy them."

"We expect a bumper demand, for the crop is excellent and the price low because of the ceiling," one wholesaler said.

A shipment of Fraser Valley blueberries came in Tuesday but the demand here is small. A carload of Yakima apricots arrived Monday and there may be another shipment, but it is not definite. Apple prices were easier this week. Cantaloupes from the Okanagan, California and Wapato are now on the market but the Okanagan is expected to take care of all succeeding shipments.

Honeydew melons, red malaga grapes and watermelon are in from California.

Locally grown produce is taking care of the vegetable market these days with quantities of green beans available and corn becoming more plentiful. Lettuce is a little higher in price and cabbage is scarce at the moment. Field tomatoes are arriving from the Okanagan and there is a good supply of California red onions and green peppers.

Victoria Chinese To Aid Guerrillas

"Buy a Bullet—Kill a Jap!" This is the slogan of a campaign being sponsored by the Victoria Chinese-Canadian Youth Forum to help the fighting guerrilla armies of China in the war against Japan.

"The Chinese guerrillas are playing a vital part in the fight for democracy," says Robert Lowe, secretary of the club. "In cutting the enemy's supply lines in occupied China and organizing surprise attacks against enemy army bases, these guerrilla fighters are contributing greatly to an ultimate Allied victory against Japan."

Mrs. Bessie Tang, the Forum's president, is directing the campaign. At a meeting of the group held last night which was also attended by many friends of the club, Mrs. Tang spoke in high appreciation of the support given by various local business firms in regard to the drive.

Other members in the campaign committee include Miss May Ngai, Miss Dora Hope, Miss Beatrice Tang, Jack Tang, Alfred Wong and Joe Fong.

Gold Discoveries Indicate New Field

New gold discoveries have been made in the Tweedsmuir Park area, at the west end of Whitesail and Lindquist Lakes and adjoining Whitesail to the west in the Omineca district. It is revealed in reports now being received by the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines.

Interest centres around showings that Privateer Mine Ltd., Pioneer Gold Mines of B.C. Ltd., and Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. have optioned or staked during the past week or two.

In addition to the companies, a number of prospectors financed by themselves, including Billy McNeil, Dunc McGibbon and Geo. Seel, are active in the area.

It is reported that Privateer, in addition to optioning the Chicklin group from Harrison Bros. of Wistaria, have made a gold discovery about one mile up Boulder Creek which drains into the southeast corner of Lindquist Lake.

It is also reported that Consolidated Smelters have staked a very large low-grade gold showing at the northwest end of Big Whitesail Lake.

Cliff and Buster Harrison report that Pioneer Gold Mines have optioned their Harrison group of claims about mid-way along the north shore of Lindquist Lake. Cliff Harrison states that Pioneer Gold Mines plan to start work immediately on the property where there are two showings.

The first showing is a large, low-grade scheelite deposit and the second a large gold-bearing quartz vein.

Many mining men are confident that this section of the province will develop into an important new gold producing camp.

it's the truth!

You CAN have brighter teeth!

Impartial laboratories made hundreds of tests. Scientists checked their findings with photo-electric measuring devices and authorize this statement: Pepsodent Powder produces a lustre on teeth twice as bright as the average of all other leading brands... brighter than any of them—bar none! These results have been double-checked by identical twins who made practical in-the-home tests... by dentists in dental clinics... by dentists in their own offices. The result is always the same: Pepsodent Powder makes teeth far brighter. Get Pepsodent Powder to make your teeth brighter... today!

You CAN have a new smile!

A smile that's marred by chipped or broken teeth need not be a permanent handicap. Today, modern dentistry can do much to make that smile attractive. For, like the movie stars, you can have chipped or broken teeth recapped. Even crooked, misplaced teeth can be straightened by a series of corrective treatments. Your dentist will tell you what needs to be done and how quickly you can expect results. ## 1,500 U.S. Planes Attack Stuttgart, Hungary Oil

LONDON (CP)—More than 1,500 U.S. planes attacked the Stuttgart area of southwest Germany and Nazi oil and aircraft facilities in Hungary in co-ordinated blows today from the west and south.

Yugoslavia railways at Brod also were bombed.

An armada of 1,000 heavy bombers and fighters flew from England through clouds three miles thick in attacking the war plants of Stuttgart, the "Detroit of Germany."

Up to 500 heavy bombers from Italy struck in Hungary. The Almas Fuzito oil refinery on the Danube 30 miles west of Budapest was left in flames. Other targets were a Messerschmitt assembly plant at Győr, and air-dromes at Veches and Tokol.

Stuttgart, a city of 400,000, and the capital of Württemberg, is in southwest Germany, 140 miles from the French frontier. It is the site of a ball-bearing factory, a magnet works, and airplane engines and assembly plants.

DUMP EXPLODED

R.A.F. medium bombers in the early afternoon exploded an ammunition dump in the Lyons forest, 10 miles east of Rouen. A forest fire was kindled by the explosions and "this was followed by a gigantic upheaval of the earth which sent a wave over a radius of five miles," a pilot said.

"You could see the whole countryside quivering and trees were bent over by the blast," he said. "Flames and smoke rose to a great height."

Three of these bombers were lost to intense ground fire.

The first flares returning from Stuttgart reported only moderate flak and no enemy fighters, in contrast to German assertions.

The weather was foul.

3,200 SORTIES FLOWN

More than 3,200 sorties were flown Tuesday against German front positions in support of ground troops driving toward Paris, but Allied appraisal of the results was marred again by a report that some explosives fell short, "bombing Canadian positions."

The weather was unfavorable over the battle area today, but prospects were for improvement.

Of the stabs into Germany and Hungary today, German broadcasts said heavy U.S. bombers with strong fighter escort struck into the southern Reich from the west and suffered losses in air battles over Budapest and Lake Balaton.

R.A.F. Mosquitoes again ranged over France in search of transport targets, but the crews noted a marked lack of activity on previously busy roads and railways. Mosquitoes bombed and strafed some trains, however, and started fires among a number of oil tanks, north of Fontainebleau. Others dumped two block-busters on Cologne for the second time in three nights.

Nothing Concrete On Himmler Murder

LONDON (AP)—British officials said today they had found nothing concrete to confirm that Heinrich Himmler had been assassinated, as related by a German army intelligence officer captured by British troops in France.

"This appears to be a rumor current among the soldiers, but too many details are lacking—such as the time Himmler is supposed to have been killed—to let us put much credence in it," one official said.

ROME (AP)—Allied headquarters announced today that British Army troops had captured Monte Grillo, nine miles north of Arezzo and a little west of Highway 71, which had been lost in a German counterattack last Sunday.

The Allies also won another hill feature west of Pontassieve.

Other heavy fighting took place in the upper Arno River valley, but the Florence sector remained quiet.

Heavy bombers flying from Russian bases Tuesday attacked targets in the Ploesti area of Romania and landed in Italy. The M.A.A.F. also bombed supply lines in northern Italy and southern France.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Broadway Rhythm," the new M.G.M. technicolor musical with Ginny Simms and George Murphy, to be seen today at the Capitol Theatre, marks the 100th time the name of New York's gay White Way has been used in a motion picture title.

The parade of "Broadway" titles began back in 1917, when the old Triangle Film Company, producing on the same spot now occupied by M.G.M., made "Broadway Arizona."

"Broadway" was first used as a musical movie title in 1929, when M.G.M. produced "Broadway Melody," first sound picture to incorporate the name of the Big Stem in a title.

Dedicate 2 Films To Army Buddies

A pair of former privates in Uncle Sam's army find themselves "glorified" in the approved Hollywood manner in not one, but two motion pictures.

Today they are Sgt. Marion Hargrove and Lieut. Tom Mulvehill, but they are better known to millions of readers as Pte. Hargrove and Pte. Mulvehill, the leading figures in Pte. Hargrove's hilarious account of his first days in the army, "See Here, Private Hargrove."

M.G.M. has brought "See Here, Private Hargrove" to the screen with Robert Walker and Keenan Wynn as Ptes. Hargrove and Mulvehill, respectively. The film will open tomorrow at the Atlas Theatre.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Chick Chandler, who plays one of the leading roles in "The West Side Kid," which is currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, never allowed himself to be idle in the lean days when he first started in pictures.

Among activities he took up while waiting for breaks were selling vacuum cleaners, cooking short orders, dirt track automobile racing, uniform selling and barbing for a snake show.

Donald Barry plays the title role with Henry Hull as the eccentric old millionaire, Dale Evans, Matt McHugh, Nana Bryant, Peter Lawford and Dorothy Burgess also lend their support. George Sherman is the director.

The two have developed several eerie makeups for Rains' screen roles, the latest being the "Phantom" disguise the star uses in "Phantom of the Opera." The Rio Theatre, co-stars Rains with Nelson Eddy and Susanna Foster.

YORK THEATRE

For the first time on the screen, the traditional ritual and ceremony of the Japanese "Hara Kiri" is shown, in the picture of that name, now at the York Theatre. ## Saw Scharnhorst Sunk

Lieut. Steve Covernton, R.C.N. V.R., who was in at the kill of the Nazi battleship Scharnhorst, and on D-Day took part in the landing of the Allied forces in France, is home on well-earned leave after long service on loan to the British navy. . . . Son of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Covernton, of Vancouver, Lieut. Covernton came to Victoria to join his wife, the former Vera Kennedy Smith, and their nine-months old son, Christopher, at 1438 Beach Drive.

The young naval officer, who was last home on leave 14 months ago, saw his baby son for the first time.

When Lieut. Covernton returns to duty at the conclusion of his leave, he will take up an appointment with the Canadian navy.

While on loan to the British navy he served aboard the big battleship H.M.S. Anson, and was attached to H.M.S. Savage when the Scharnhorst, making a break from her Norway hideout to prey on Allied shipping, was overhauled and sunk Dec. 26, 73 miles due north of Cape North, on the Russian convoy route.

The ships which got in their torpedoes with such deadly effect as H.M.S. Duke of York closed in on the Scharnhorst, were the British destroyers Savage, Saumarez and Scorpion, and the Norwegian destroyer Stord.

MADE 2 HITS

"We got close in and sent eight torpedoes at the Scharnhorst, two of them being hits," said Lieut. Covernton of the sea fight which cost the Germans one of their largest and most effective naval units.

On D-Day, Lieut. Covernton was serving on a British frigate which was used as headquarters ship, carrying army officers across the Channel. "Everything went off very smoothly," said Lieut. Covernton, describing the establishment of the beachheads in Normandy. "We made our landing at Ouistrehan, closest to Le Havre. There was little action by the enemy shore batteries. They were very effectively doused by our big ships. And there was very little enemy air operation. Our worst trouble was with the mines, although the minesweepers had done a marvelous job."

Lieut. and Mrs. Covernton and son Christopher are today leaving the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Kennedy-Smith, to holiday at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Covernton at Roberts Creek.

Lieut. Covernton has two brothers in service, Capt. Carleton Covernton, a doctor in the R.C. A.M.C., and Sigmn. Ted Covernton, in the Canadian Navy. His sister, the former Daphne Covernton, before her marriage was in charge of the Ask Mr. Foster travel service at the Empress Hotel. She is now Mrs. R. S. MacLean, and her husband, Capt. R. S. MacLean, is serving with the army overseas. Another sister is Mrs. F. D. O'Brien, whose husband is a lieutenant in the Canadian Navy.

A reminder...

COACH SPACE MUST BE RESERVED IN ADVANCE on long distance S. P. trains

Lately, people have been arriving at Portland without a coach reservation, expecting to get a seat on a train to California. Frequently they have been disappointed as no space was available for them.

A year ago we established a coach reservation plan for all Southern Pacific trains, except local trains on short runs. We did this in the interests of our passengers, as our trains had been badly overcrowded.

The plan has worked well, but we think it timely to remind people that coach reservations are still necessary on Southern Pacific.

If you plan to travel in a coach on a long distance S. P. train here is what you should do:

Ask your local railroad agent well in advance of the day the train leaves to secure a free reservation check for you. (One is needed for each person including children.) This check does not entitle you to a particular seat in a particular car (except on the BEAVER and the DAYLIGHTS where individual seats are reserved) but it is a permit to board the train at Portland. Please do not leave home without this reservation check.

Service men make coach reservations, too, but they are given preference, of course.

MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL—please don't try to travel by train unless your trip is important to the war effort. There just isn't room on trains nowadays for vacation travel. We sincerely hope there'll come a day soon when the message from our railroad can be different.

ROME (AP)—Antoine de St. Exupery, 44, French pilot and author, is missing after a mission over southern France, an official announcement said today.

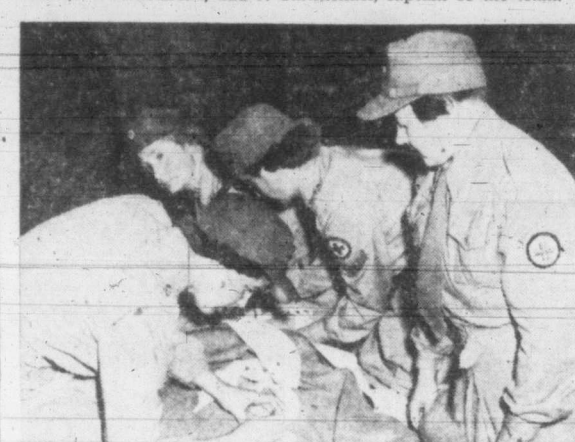

During his youth he was a French mail pilot and from these experiences he produced his novel, "Night Flight." His "Flight to Arras," published in 1942, gives an account of his last reconnaissance flight over France in May, 1940. He escaped when France fell. He had returned to duty only a short time ago.

First place in the civil defence bomb reconnaissance officers' competition held Tuesday night at Baker Brick & Tile Co. Ltd. yard, Douglas Street, went to O. E. Day. Eleven competitors viewed a total of 15 incidents and made reports of them.

The three-day series of Victoria civil defence competitions were concluded Tuesday night with other competitions at Royal Athletic Park.

Judge of the bomb reconnaissance competitions were Lieut. H. A. Pederson, R.C.E. Viewing the workouts with him were W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the advisory council, Provincial Civilian Protection Committee; Insp. S. F. M. Moodie, Dominion director of training for civil defence, and J. A. Clou, controller for Burnaby.

Satisfaction with the work was expressed by both Mr. Mainwaring and Insp. Moodie, who agreed the competitions were the most comprehensive civil defence program they had seen. Insp. Moodie said he hoped to stage similar events on the mainland.

Seven of the incidents dealt with actual high explosive bombs and others were with oil incendiaries and gas bombs. Artificial bomb craters had been prepared prior to the competition by army engineers.

A. Malcolm took second place, G. W. Russell third, and R. C. Keane fourth.

British Shipyards Eye New Ships Needed On This Coast

British shipyards have their eyes on the tonnage that will have to be built for service in the British Columbia coast trade after the war, according to an article published in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce.

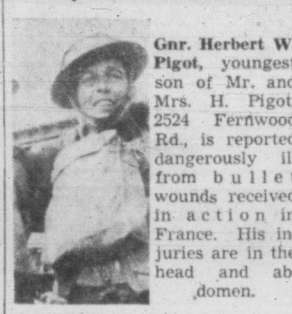

There is a hope in British Columbia shipbuilding circles that this new construction will be done here. Organizations have conducted surveys to see what would have to be done to give the B.C. yards a chance to compete with the British firms. Both materials and labor are more costly here than in Britain. The Liverpool paper has been investigating requirements in various parts of the world and knows pretty well what the C.P.R., C.N.R. and Union Steamship Co. will require for service on this coast.

SHIPS ARE OLD

Most of the steamers still running on this coast would have been retired before now had it not been for the demands of war. Admiralty took over both the Princess Kathleen and Princess Marguerite from the C.P.R., and the Prince Robert, with her sister ships, Prince David and Prince Henry, were requisitioned from the C.N.R. This made it necessary for the companies to press into service ships like the Princess Victoria, which is 41 years old; the Princess Charlotte, which is 36 years old, and the Princess Alice, which is nearly Charlton was in one of the 1,500 plane raids over Berlin. He was in one of eight planes which failed to return. News of his burial in Germany was received through German sources and the International Red Cross. A war-rant officer when he was reported missing, Charlton was later promoted to pilot officer. Born in Nottingham, Eng., he lived in this city for 15 years before joining the air force. His parents-in-law are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hazelhurst, 2718 Rock Bay Avenue. His wife, expected from Halifax, will reside with her parents here.

One Mosquito and two Beaufighters were slightly damaged by anti-aircraft fire, but all the fliers got back safely.

5-Year Deepening Plan for Victoria Harbor

By DICK FREEMAN
A five-year plan for the deepening of the inner harbor from its entrance to Johnson Street bridge is in the forefront of Victoria's postwar reconstruction program.

For the preliminary surveys of the harbor to determine the extent of the work to be done, $2,000 has been allocated.

All that is wanted now is action to see that the proposed scheme is incorporated in the general plan for development and beautification of this city after the war has been won.

This important inner harbor deepening project is independent of proposals put forward for the improvement of the outer harbor and the construction of a western breakwater.

PREPARE FOR BIGGER PRINCESSES

Chamber of Commerce and other public organizations are taking up the proposal and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., is being asked to press on Ottawa the urgency of proceeding with this work as part of the postwar scheme.

Alexander Halkett, former assistant federal public works engineer for British Columbia, who recently retired after a lifetime of valuable service, explained that the original plan was to deepen the Inner Harbor to a depth of 25 feet below low water from its entrance at the present site of the V.M.D. No. 2 shipyard, right through to the Johnson Street bridge.

The scheme, when completed, would secure a sufficient depth of water for the safe navigation of coastwise steamships here for many years to come, including the super-type of passenger Princesses which Canadian Pacific is now planning for postwar building to replace vessels which have been lost in war service.

MONEY AVAILABLE

Mr. Halkett is authority for the statement that the sum of $2,000 has already been allocated by the Dominion for preliminary surveys of the harbor. This money is understood to be immediately available for a start on these preliminary surveys, but lack of action on the part of the local authorities has permitted the matter to lapse.

Mr. Halkett considers this project most important, demanding immediate action so that the surveys may be carried out and pave the way for commencement of the deepening operations by the war's end.

CAUSEWAY AND OAK BAY PLANS

The plan also embraces work at the Causeway to permit visiting yachtsmen to moor their boats with safety in the Inner Harbor basin bordered by the Empress Hotel and the Parliament buildings.

Steps also are soon to be taken in connection with the Oak Bay beautification scheme, which involves the building of a double swimming pool at the Willows Beach and construction of a promenade with Mary Tod Island, for which $500 is said to have been set aside for covering preparation of plans and specifications. This also is a postwar project.

2 Deaths Presumed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two deaths were presumed by Mr. Justice Coady in B.C. Supreme Court today.

The first was that of Joseph O'Donnell of Schmel Bay, Cortez Island, who is believed to have fallen or jumped off a Union Steamship vessel en route to Refuge Cove Aug. 1, 1943. The second was that of Roy Norval Geldfurl, former Victoria projectionist who has not been seen or heard of by his family since he met them in 1922 at a New Year's celebration.

Cherbourg Chief Killed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Capt. Norman S. Ives, 47, U.S. director of the port of Cherbourg, France, has been killed in action, the navy disclosed today. A veteran of duty with submarines, Ives played a large part in development of safety devices which have saved the lives of many men serving in submarines.

Sentence Suspended

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three men, two of them merchant seamen, who were arrested July 31 and charged with creating a disturbance in connection with 200 suit disturbances in downtown Vancouver streets, were given suspended sentences today, after they had agreed to sign $100 bonds to keep the peace for one year. The men are William H. Airey, 26; Albert P. Paddington, 18; and Harry Simpson, 18.

Russ Draw Noose Round Huge Haul Of Baltic Nazis

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red Army tightened a noose today around German Baltic forces once estimated at more than 20 divisions—between 220,000 and 300,000 men—and smashed a deeper wedge through Poland toward German Silesia west of the Vistula.

Three Soviet columns pressed on Riga from the west, south and east for possibly the biggest kill of the summer campaign. Heavily-armed enemy units fell back on the Latvian capital, their offensive thrusts shattered by Gen. Ivan C. Bagration's right wing.

The Soviet high command announced that enemy forces are being "bled white" and "our troops are stubbornly advancing" against German reserve divisions thrown into desperate counterattacks in nearly every sector of the front to keep the Russian hordes from German soil. A communique supplement said all were repulsed.

6-MILE THRUST

The communique also announced a six-mile northward thrust on the Vistula bridgehead, a drive that may be pointed at Warsaw from the south, and an advance to within 33 miles of Czechoslovakian border.

The Russians said that to support their counterattacks the Germans are hurling "even rear detachments" into battle. It was reported 16 new German divisions have reached the front in the past three weeks—some from the central German reserves, others from western Poland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Norway.

The Russians did not disclose where the German counterattacks have been made, but it could be assumed at least part were aimed at keeping the Red Army from leaping forward the few miles needed to reach the soil of East Prussia.

(The Germans announced many new officers "have taken over on the eastern front at this critical juncture.")

SMASHED BY RUSSIANS

A German southward thrust aimed at breaking out of the Estonia-Latvia encirclement was broken up by Soviet forces several days ago in the Birzai area in northern Lithuania near the Latvian border, the daily Russian communique said.

Since then the rolling Russian legions in that sector have captured more than 80 communities, including Radviliskis, on the border, 43 miles from Riga.

Along with the Birzai offensive, the Soviet forces shot two other spearheads into Latvia, along the Daugava River toward Riga, sweeping through a total of 120 places, including Krustpils.

Front advices said there was reason to believe one of the biggest encirclements of the summer campaign was gaining new momentum. Thousands of German soldiers strung out in the vast spaces from the Gulf of Riga to the southern shores of Lake Peipus were reported being driven back to the Baltic in a battle of extermination.

The Russian advances in the Vistula bridgehead in Poland likewise threatened new German disasters.

200 From Mainland

National Selective Service has set machinery in motion by which it is hoped between 200 and 300 mainland shipyard workers will come to Yarrow's, William Horrobin, regional employment manager, disclosed today.

With some men already directed to work at Yarrow's, Mr. Horrobin said it was expected most of the yard's demand would be filled.

Patriots Blocking Nazi Evacuation Of South France

By CHARLES S. FLOTZ

TRUN, Spain (AP)—German attempts to evacuate men and equipment from positions in southwestern France outflanked by Allied troops farther north are being seriously disrupted by French patriots sabotaging communications and spreading panic among the Nazis still in that area, border reports said today.

As the German army of occupation moves northward the Maquis were reported narrowing its way of escape and grimly awaiting the time when those Nazis left behind are too weak to survive the challenge of the Frenchmen of the mountains. The Maquis were declared to be forcing the Germans to destroy much of the material they hoped to rescue from southwestern France.

The few Germans still remaining along the French-Spanish border were comparatively calm. They apparently feel that if the worst comes they can cross into Spain and surrender their arms. It was among the German units farther to the north that the dread of the Maquis was said to be growing.

Two blonde daughters of the French stationmaster at Hendaye said their fellow countrymen in the border region were making the lives of the Germans still in the area particularly miserable by keeping them informed of the news of Allied victories as given by Allied broadcasting stations.

Fewer than 1,000 German soldiers remain in Hendaye, St. Jean de Luz and other points south of Bordeaux. They stay close to their barracks and seem ready to move at a moment's notice, French reports said.

French resistance forces have cut railroads linking the Bay of Biscay with the Mediterranean, but the roads remain as possible escape routes for Germans along the coast from Brittany to the Pyrenees.
